

The Alberta Federation of Labour invites affiliated unions, labour councils and members to submit nominations for the 2024 AFL International Women's Day Award. The Award was introduced in 1990 to recognize a sister in the labour movement for her outstanding commitment and leadership in the trade union movement and community.

Please include a detailed biography with your nomination, giving specific examples of the nominee's participation and leadership in activities, projects, or events which demonstrate the core values below.

- A committed trade unionist who is an activist and a leader in her union and/or her community;
- Dedicated to equity and the application of a feminist lens in union and community work; and
- Dedicated to labour activism which may include holding, or having held a position within her union, involvement in her local, or within provincial or federal labour coalitions.

The deadline for accepting nominations for the IWD award is:

Tuesday, April 2, 2024

All submissions should be emailed to the AFL Executive Council via afl@afl.org. The recipient of this award will be determined at the April 2024 Executive Council meeting and the award ceremony will take place at the 2024 AFL Midterm Forum May 17 - 18 at the MacEwan Centre in Calgary.

Unions and labour councils are encouraged to circulate this call to their locals and members so that many deserving sisters are recognized for their contributions and are nominated for this prestigious award.
